Committee Selected to Head Cancer Society Drive in Antioch Area

Mrs. E. J. McDougall Named Chairman in Campaign Starting Apr. 1

A committee of five, headed by Mrs. E. J. McDougall, Route 173, will conduct the 1949 fund drive of the American Cancer Society in the Antioch area.

Besides Mrs. McDougall as chairman, the committee includes Mrs. Joseph Horton, Mrs. Fred Oschmann, Mrs. Curtis Wells and Paul Chase.

This year's drive will start on April 1 and continue through the month. Quota for Lake county is $23,800. Last year the county raised $23,563, or $233 more than its 1948 quota.

Dr. Arnold E. Osterberg, of Waukegan, a member of the clinical investigation staff of Abbott Laboratories, is county chairman. Dr. R. D. Coghill of Lake Bluff, director of research at Abbott, is co-chairman.

In making his appeal for funds, Dr. Osterberg said that sixty per cent of the money raised will remain in Illinois to purchase equipment for hospitals, set up better detection facilities and buy materials for home treatment of cancer cases. Twenty-five per cent of the money will go into a national program of research seeking the causes and cures of cancer. The remaining fifteen per cent will be used for education on a nationwide scale.

Headquarters of the county drive will be at the information center of the American Cancer Society at 133 Belvidere St., Waukegan. Mrs. H. H. Young is executive secretary. Contributions may be sent to any of the local committee members or to the county headquarters.

Mrs. Herschel R. Gaston, Sister of Publisher of News Dies at Ottawa

Mrs. Herschel R. Gaston, sister of Mrs. Homer B. Gaston, of 654 N. Main st., died at Ryburn-King hospital, Ottawa, Ill., last Thursday afternoon.

She entered the hospital a few days after the death of her husband five weeks ago. She first became ill a year ago, and was in poor health at the time of Mr. Gaston's sickness. Her death was attributed to a repetition of cerebral hemorrhages.

Mrs. H. B. Gaston of this village was at her sister's bedside when death came and remained for the funeral services which were held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Gladfelter funeral home in Ottawa. Burial was in Oaklawn cemetery.

The deceased, Etta Belle Durling Gaston, and Mrs. Margaret Durling Gaston of this village married brothers, both newspaper men, and both of whom are deceased. They were born in Carmi, Ill., and the aged mother, Mrs. Martin Erkman and stepfather, Martin M. Erkman are still living at Carmi.

Etta Durling after finishing high school at Carmi and graduating from Brown's business college at Terre Haute, Ind., took up work as a stenographer and bookkeeper in the Carmi weekly newspaper, now the Democrat-Tribune.

It was here that she met Herschel R. Gaston, native of Indiana and proprietor of several print shops and weekly newspapers. They were married at Carmi, Feb. 27, 1908. They came to Ottawa in 1936, purchasing a printing establishment to which they gave the name, Ledger Printing Service. They printed the LaSalle County Ledger, founded by E. M. Davis and at his death purchased it.

Two children, Mrs. James (Helen) Mulholland and Donald Gaston, both of Ottawa, survive.

Mrs. Gaston was the oldest of four brothers and six sisters.

PARENTS OF DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gaston are the parents of a baby daughter, "Kathleen Ann", born Friday, Mar. 18, at Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan. Mrs. Gaston before her marriage was Miss June Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Larson, of Chicago.

Gay Parties and Revelry At Conservation School To Be Thing of the Past

The state conservation school on Rte. 59 west of Lake Villa, formerly the Deering estate, is to be a much quieter place under the Democratic regime than the Republican era, according to Leonard Schwartz, new state director of conservation. Schwartz said that the budget for the biennium is $30,000 less for the operation of the school than under the Osborne regime. He said that cocktail parties, teas, and entertainment will be discontinued, and that the grounds will be used for training wardens and for summer courses for boys and girls.

The conservation director said that new five-point star badges will be provided the game wardens and the six-star badges will be obsolete. Those wearing the old badges are to be ignored.

Highway Commissioner Has Many Duties, Says U. of I. Agr. Professor

The highway commissioner can be a very busy man if he attempts all the duties and applies the powers of his office according to H. W. Hannah, associate professor in agricultural economics at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

According to Hannah one of the most important local elected officials in Illinois is the township highway or road commissioner. Farmers are particularly interested in the qualifications of the man elected to this job, because a high percentage of Illinois farms are still on township highways. Although most people are in a general way familiar with the work of the road commissioner, question frequently arise concerning his responsibility and authority. By Illinois law he has, among others, these powers and duties:

1. To lay out, alter, widen, or vacate roads.
 2. To determine the tax necessary for road and bridge purposes. He must state separately the amounts to be levied for road construction, maintenance of bridges, purchases and other items.
 3. To direct the expenditure of all money for road and bridge purposes and draw warrants on the township.
 4. To direct the construction, maintenance and repair of roads and bridges. In carrying out this function, he is given authority to enter into contracts, employ labor and purchase material. However, he must obtain written approval from the county superintendent of highways for any contract, project, machinery or materials costing over $500.
 5. He must take possession of and maintain all township tools. These tools cannot be loaned, except to another township or public corporation.
 6. To erect guide boards giving directions and distances.
 7. To prevent noxious weeds from seeding and to eradicate them insofar as practicable.
 8. To prevent all rank growth of vegetation in the public highway.
 9. To make an annual report in writing to the board of town auditors.
 10. To act as drainage commissioner in one town or union drainage districts until commissioners are elected.
- Much of the law defining the legal duties of highway commissioners is contained in the Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 121, Section 56.

Schools Close Friday For Teachers' Meeting; Calendar Is Changed

Antioch schools will be closed tomorrow so that teachers may attend their institute in Waukegan. Some of the vocational teachers of the high school will attend the annual Vocational Teachers meeting at Peoria, Ill.

Changes in the calendar of the high school by reason of conflict of events now place the Antioch grade school festival on April 8, instead of April 1, and the show of the magician, Ralph Pierce of Ashton, Ill., forward from Friday April 8 to Wednesday, April 6.

The high school spring concert will be on April 22 instead of April 25 as erroneously reported.

Mrs. Beatrice Gasa, of Channel Lake, was taken to a Waukegan hospital Monday night by the Rescue Squad for emergency care. She is an operator at the Antioch telephone exchange.

Grass Lake Taxpayers Informed of School's Need of More Money

Referendum on Education Fund Increase To Be On Saturday

Taxpayers of the Grass Lake school district were acquainted with the needs of the school Tuesday evening so that they could vote more understandingly Saturday afternoon when they go to the polls.

From 12 noon until 7 p. m. Saturday they will cast their ballots on a proposal to increase the educational fund levy to be able to pay teachers their salaries for the rest of this year and for next year.

The meeting Tuesday night at the school was well attended. Frank Balwanz presided and County School Superintendent W. C. Petty spoke in answering questions. The school board comprising Arthur Anderson, Charles Kempf and Walter Forbrich were present and responded to inquiries.

Important facts brought out were that the 60 per cent increase in the educational tax does not mean a 60 per cent increase in total taxes. It means merely that the increase is for the educational phase of school taxes, and the present school tax of .550 percent will be upped .134 per cent to a total of .684, a not too large amount.

The crowd saw first hand at the school building the crowded conditions and the need of the third teacher which the board had to hire to take care of the big enrollment.

It was explained that even if the new St. Peter's school should take a large number of pupils from the public school, the big enrollment of oncoming first grade pupils will necessitate a third teacher, and if none or very few are drawn from the Grass Lake school by the new parochial school even a fourth teacher might be needed.

There was some disagreement on the amount needed, the variation being from $500 to $1,000, but Supt. Petty said he could take any three men in the audience and set forth the needs of the school and the results in figures will not vary much from those of the school board. Indications are that the request for additional money will be granted by the voters.

Dr. J. K. Sylvester of Abbott Laboratories Addresses P. T. Club

The grade school Parent Teacher association heard an intensely interesting talk by Dr. J. K. Sylvester of Abbott Laboratories on modern drugs Monday evening.

Dr. Sylvester showed slides to describe the way in which antibiotics attack and destroy disease germs. The power of penicillin, streptomycin and aureomycin was explained.

"We have in the earth beneath our feet the mold that can cure the disease of our bodies," said the speaker. He said that improvements are being made in the drugs from time to time and much of it is still in the experimental stage. He said that penicillin was able to destroy tuberculosis in some forms but is ineffective in others. Aureomycin has been the more effective.

There was a good attendance at the meeting and the fifth grade mothers with Mrs. Donald Anderson as chairman served fine refreshments.

Some Guests Stay Too Darn Long

Mr. F. G. Chapp Hears From Receiver of Gift From Friendship Train

Mr. Fred G. Chapp, of Antioch Rte. 2, received a letter from Mrs. Maria Riedel of 29 Watt street, Berlin, expressing her appreciation for gifts of clothing she received through the Friendship train.

Mrs. Chapp placed her name and address on one of the articles and the letter written in German script was an acknowledgement of the receipt and appreciation of them. Mrs. Riedel speaks of her 5-year-old son and 13-year-old daughter, and the misfortune her husband had as a soldier fighting in the Ural mountains and in Russia, and Poland.

The letter is proof to the Chapp family that the clothing was delivered to worthy recipients and the Friendship train was a worthwhile project.

How Big Are The Fish?

During an inquiry into corporate profits conducted by a Senate Committee, a spokesman for the oil industry said this: "Merely to say that our profit is three times that of 1940 has no more meaning than saying to a fisherman: 'You caught 100 fish in 1940 and 300 fish this year, so you are three times better off.' One question is to be asked: 'What size fish were they?'"

Anyone, whether he works for wages or is the head of a great company, knows that the "fish" are far smaller than they used to be. In such matters as plant expansion and improvement, for instance, the 1940 dollar would buy two or three times as much as the 1949 dollar. That is one of the salient facts to be taken into consideration when appraising the profit experience of industry. For example, thirty leading oil companies earned a net profit of nearly $1,219,000,000 in 1947—a huge sum indeed. But those same companies had to spend, in that year, more than $2,000,000,000 for new equipment, development, and other such capital investments.

A sound comparison can be made between profits and wages. If the average worker had the same size paycheck he earned in 1940, he'd be totally unable to meet today's living costs, much less spend anything for new possessions that he wants and needs. If the average corporation had the same dollar profits it earned in 1940, it couldn't handle today's replacement and expansion costs. The principle of the living wage applies to enterprise as well as to the individual.

The Essentials of Fire Protection

The National Board of Fire Underwriters recently made an engineering inspection of San Francisco's fire fighting facilities and turned in a report. The San Francisco Chronicle then wrote an interesting commentary on what fire protection involves.

"The report brings out the fact that a complete fire protection system is more than a fire department," it said.

"It is a water supply and means for efficient distribution of the water to the scene of a blaze."

"It is a fire alarm system that will not break down."

"It is the auxiliaries of the fire department, the police department, the facilities of the telephone company."

"It is the construction of buildings, frame or brick, stucco or steel."

"It is a system for public education in fire prevention."

"It is the general hazard of all conditions, and the total resources of a community that can be mobilized against a fire."

This definition of fire protection applies to a village as well as to a city. In the small community, naturally, facilities will be less extensive and elaborate. But the basic needs—a good water supply, an alarm system, safe building construction, and an educated public—are exactly the same. Together, they constitute the weapons that can defeat fire.

A Fifth of America's Doctors are Trained in Northern Illinois

CHICAGO and Northern Illinois is a world center for medical education. More doctors are trained in the area than in any other comparable community. At a conservative estimate, one doctor out of every five in the nation received part or all of his education here.

This area is a magnet for medical students because five great medical schools, with superb hospital and research facilities, are located here. The schools include the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois (the largest medical school in the United States, and probably in the world), Northwestern University Medical School (third largest in the nation), the University of Chicago School of Medicine, Stritch School of Medicine of Loyola University, and Chicago Medical College.

The medical schools are supplemented, in their teaching task, by post-graduate seminars, clinical conferences, and special courses; by the area's 95 hospitals; and by outstanding medical library facilities that include some 500,000 volumes. Along with the medical schools themselves, the area contains many educational institutions in allied fields. There are, for example, three famous schools of dentistry (the only city with that many), 44 schools of nursing, a major college of pharmacy, 21 schools for x-ray technicians, and others for medical librarians, medical technologists, physical therapists, occupational therapists and dental hygienists.

Schools alone, however, do not make a great center of medical education. More important are the experienced physicians and surgeons of this area who are constantly learning and, at the same time, are passing on their knowledge to new generations of medical men.

Medical training is only one of the many segments of education in which Chicago and Northern Illinois is outstanding. That the city and surrounding communities form a great educational and medical center; as well as the center of an industrial empire, is important to industrialists everywhere.

New Plymouth on Display

Plymouth's new special deluxe is featured above. Brilliant new styling is combined with outstanding riding comfort, increased roominess, and sweeping mechanical improvements in the new line of Plymouth automobiles.

Completely redesigned, the new Plymouth has a longer wheelbase for a better ride and more road stability, but less front and rear overhang for easier parking and garaging. While the silhouette has been lowered and the width decreased, there is more head and leg room and seats are wider. Typical of Plymouth's many refinements is the ignition-starter combination, with which a turn of the key starts the engine.

The new Plymouths are sleek in appearance. New rear-end styling provides a graceful balance with the horizontal grille lines which emphasize the broadness of the front. Fenders which blend perfectly into body lines are nevertheless separate and detachable, thus avoiding sheet metal panels so costly to repair or replace.

The new Plymouth line includes nine distinct automobiles. Special deluxe and deluxe types are on a 118-inch wheelbase, one inch longer than last year's. Special deluxe models are: four-door sedan, club coupe, convertible club coupe and station wagon. In the deluxe group are the four-door sedan and the club coupe. In addition, Plymouth will build three deluxe models on a brand new 111-inch wheelbase, a two-door sedan, a three-passenger coupe, and a new body type, the Suburban.

The 97-horsepower engine has improved performance and efficiency with a new design cylinder head which increases compression ratio to 7 to 1. A new chrome plated compression piston ring reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, while a newly-designed intake manifold induces quicker, smoother engine warm-up and produces faster throttle response.

Body styling which produces greater passenger room without excessive bulk also increases visibility. V-type windshields have 37 percent more area and provide excellent vision without distortion. Windshield wipers clear 61.5 percent greater area and the rear window is 35.4 percent larger.

Time for Orchardists to Prune Fruit Trees, Farm Advisor Nicholas Declares

The warm, sunny days of spring will soon be here, so get into your orchards and prune your fruit trees before the sap starts running, says Ray T. Nicholas, Lake county farm adviser.

Not only will pruning improve the run-down appearance of many orchards, Mr. Nicholas said, but it will later make spraying lots easier and more efficient and increase yields by giving the growing fruit more sunlight and air.

Be careful not to prune too heavily, he warned, because heavy pruning delays bearing and stunts tree growth. Cherry trees need only the crossing branches cut out. Pears and younger apple trees also should be lightly pruned. Peach trees need a little heavier pruning than apple trees.

Colored apple trees can become so thick that they produce only small, poorly colored fruit. It is hard to control insects and disease when the trees are in such condition, because the spray cannot get through, especially when the spraying is done with hand equipment. Such trees should be pruned severely.

Some pruning hints which will be effective in your orchard, Mr. Nicholas said, include:

1. Cut out drooping limbs arising from the framework branches on the inside of the lower third of the tree.
2. Remove outside branches that will lie on the ground at harvest time.
3. Give the entire head of the tree a general thinning out by removing some of the larger branches, if necessary, and thinning out the laterals on the remaining branches.
4. Remove branches near the center that will be difficult to reach with the spray.
5. Lower the tops of very tall trees by cutting back the terminals to more or less horizontal laterals.
6. Remove water sprouts with a saw.

When a tree is properly pruned, he added, you should be able to see some sky through the top when the foliage is on.

Four - H Members Invited To Enter County Contest To Devise Better Methods

Development of new methods to ease farm and home chores will be the 1949 goal of scores of 4-H farmers and farmerettes under the third annual "Better Methods" activity being sponsored by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Lake County, it was announced today by Ray T. Nicholas, Lake county farm adviser, and Helen Volk, home adviser, following a meeting held recently in Crystal Lake.

Plans for the program, which will be carried out under the direction of the University of Illinois Agriculture Extension Division and local 4-H leaders, were unveiled at the meeting which was attended by farm and home advisers, state and local 4-H leaders, and representatives of the utility.

All 4-H boys and girls in Lake county who wish to enter a farm or home betterment activity in the "Better Methods" program can do so by merely filling out an application which will be supplied on request by Ray T. Nicholas or Helen Volk. The application form also contains a description of the program, a brief set of rules and suggestions for "better method" projects.

The local utility will award two $50 U. S. security bonds, one for each boy and each girl in the county judged to have the best "better methods" activity. The boys and girls who place second in each county will receive an award which covers all expenses while attending a camping session at Camp Shawawaw-nas-see near Kankakee, Ill., in 1950. Judges will be the county farm and home advisers and staff members of the University of Illinois extension service.

Winners of the local awards will be eligible to compete with winners in the other 20 counties for four additional top awards—$200 scholarships to the University of Illinois—two each for the boys and the girls.

The winners from each of the 21 counties will receive their prize awards at their annual county "achievement day" next fall.

Almost any project which devises a better method for a farm or home chore will be acceptable, the advisers said. Some of the projects which local 4-H'ers already have indicated they will undertake include livestock feeding, grain handling, food canning and freezing, sewing, milk production, farm building layouts, clothing projects, electrical equipment, and many others designed to attack troublesome farm and home problems.

1,300 County Farmers Adopt Hospital Plan Sponsored by LCHIA

Approximately 1,300 Lake county farm residents have joined the Blue Cross Plan for hospital care as a result of the recent Blue Cross enrollment sponsored by the Lake County Health Improvement Association, it was revealed this week. The enrollment in the county ended on February 26 and was proclaimed a great success in the HIA's program to improve health in this community.

Blue Cross benefits for new members in this county will begin with hospital admissions on and after May 1, according to Donald Adams, president of the HIA. Maternity benefits on a family contract will become effective nine months after that date. To the 1,300 Lake county residents who joined Blue Cross, it will mean a greater protection against hospital bills caused by unexpected sickness or accident than they have ever known before.

Lake County Blue Cross members will have a choice of 147 member hospitals in 52 northern and central Illinois counties in which Blue Cross Plan for Hospital Care will pay the cost of Blue Cross benefits in full for 30 days in each calendar year. An additional 90 days will be available when the Plan will pay half the cost of benefits in member hospitals. Among the hospitals which provide Blue Cross service benefits are St. Therese's and Victory Memorial hospitals in Waukegan, Condell Memorial hospital in Libertyville, and the Highland Park and Lake Forest hospitals.

If emergency care is required in recognized hospitals outside of the Plan area anywhere in the world, Blue Cross members will receive liberal daily allowances toward the cost of their hospital bills, Mr. Adams pointed out.

The Lake County Council of Parents and teachers will hold its last meeting of the year on Wednesday, March 30th, at 8 p. m. at the Central school, Libertyville. Mrs. Ivan Sengenberger will preside. PTA units from Beach and Bonnie Brook schools will be the hosts for the evening meeting.

School news from Abroad will be the theme and Miss Nita Benedict is program chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tomkovick will show slides and tell of their experiences in the English schools. Mr. Tomkovick is an instructor at the Waukegan High school and was an exchange teacher in England last year.

There will also be election of officers and installation ceremony. PTA units in Lake County are urged to send representatives to this meeting.

Dr. Sylvester was introduced by Mrs. Morris Pickus.

Music was furnished by Hans Von Holwede.
Letters of appreciation from pupils of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades to the P. T. A. were read telling how much the children appreciated the two radio-phonographs bought for them by the association.

The first, second, and fourth grades tied for having the most parents at the meeting. Each grade received $2.

Brownie Troop No. 11 Holds Meeting, Wed.

Twelve girls of the newly organized girl scouts, Brownie troop No. 11, held its first meeting March 16 at the Grass Lake school. Mrs. Joseph Nemec, leader and Mrs. Russell Halvorsen, assistant leader, assisted by Mrs. Crete Greenlee, had charge of the meeting. The afternoon was spent in getting acquainted. Chocolate Brownies and ice cream were served by the committee, consisting of Mesdames Victor Ansell, Roy Frazier and Walter Bauer. A meeting will be held every Wednesday afternoon at the school.

METHODIST CHURCH TO OBSERVE DEDICATION PROGRAM SUNDAY

Cooperating with Christian churches throughout the world, the Antioch Methodist church will observe Dedication Sunday at the 11 o'clock worship service on Sunday morning. The occasion is the climax of Christendom's efforts to raise millions of dollars for world relief and missions.

The prelude to the Sunday morning service will be one of the greatest radio programs ever presented to the American people. The program entitled "One Great Hour" will be presented on most major networks from 9 until 10 o'clock central standard time on Saturday evening. It will feature great names, great living drama and great music.

On Sunday morning Christian people are urged to attend Church and to give generously to their brothers and sisters in other lands. At the local church Rev. Tuttle will bring the message. The robed choir under the direction of Mr. Charles B. Watson will sing. A special solo will be sung by Mrs. Donald Brown.

Received into Church

Eight new members were received into the church at the worship service last Sunday morning. The group had been meeting with the minister for the past three Sundays as a membership class. Those joining were Mrs. A. P. Bratrude, Mrs. Harry Messager, Mrs. O. R. Kresse, Miss Patricia Anderson, Mrs. Donald Brown, Mrs. George Rearden, Mr. Walter Hill, Jr., and Donald Hill. Four other candidates who have met with the class will be received into membership in the near future.

To Dedicate New Organ
Dr. Weldon Bradburn, District Superintendent of the Methodist Church will be in Antioch at the Methodist church Sunday, April 2. The occasion will be the annual Fourth Quarterly Conference and election of officers of the Church.

The new Wurlitzer Electronic organ recently purchased by the church will be dedicated in appropriate ceremonies at that time. Dr. Bradburn will bring the morning message followed by a pot luck dinner to be held in the basement of the church. The Conference and election of officers will take place in the early part of the afternoon.

Illinois Tax Facts

The State Revenue Laws Commission, created by the General Assembly in 1947, has released its recommendations for changes in the assessment of laws in respect to the assessment of property. The balance of the Commission's recommendations will be available shortly.

In view of the very high caliber of the membership of the Commission, and the fact that the Commission has been working for some 18 months on the tremendous task confronting it, the recommendations of this Commission merit very serious consideration.

The Commission recommends that the full value assessment plan (100 per cent assessment laws) should be continued, with some modifications.

The Commission recommends that the Department of Revenue, in determining the multiplier for each county, should be required to take into consideration not only the percentage of full value at which real estate is locally assessed but also the percentage of full value at which personal property is assessed.

If it is true that personal property is assessed generally at a lower percentage of full value than real property, and if the Department of Revenue is required by law to take this into consideration in determining the multiplier, then it is inevitable that the multiplier will be greater, full value assessments will be higher, taxing power of local governments will be increased—AND THAT WILL MEAN STILL HIGHER TAXES IN MANY INSTANCES.

For example, under the present law, if the Department of Revenue finds that $10,000 worth of real estate is assessed at $4,000, and that this is true on the average throughout the county, then it determines that property is assessed at 40 per cent of full value and directs the county clerk to multiply each assessment by 2½. Under the proposal of the Commission, suppose the Department finds that $10,000 worth of real estate is assessed at $4,000 and that $10,000 worth of personal property is assessed at $2,000, the average would be $3,000 and the multiplier would be 3 1/3. This would mean that $10,000 worth of real estate, locally assessed at $4,000 would be taxed on a full value assessment of $13,333.33 under the Commission's proposal instead of $10,000 under the present law. Furthermore, whereas the personal property assessment of $2,000 in the example above would be multiplied by 2½ under the present law and taxed on a full value of $5,000, it would be multiplied by 3 1/3 under the Commission proposal, and taxed on a full value of $6,666.67. Neither the owners of real estate nor of personal property will benefit. They will probably both be the losers in higher taxes.

The Commission's recommendation is a general statement of objective and final judgment must be withheld until the specific legislation is introduced in the General Assembly to carry out this objective. It appears, however, that, at best, the discretion of the Department of Revenue, already too great in determining the multiplier, will be broadened; that, at worst, taxing power of local governments will take another jump as it did on 1946 taxes when the 100 per cent assessment laws took effect.

German Speaking Swiss Sensitive About Language

BASEL, SWITZERLAND. — German speaking Swiss are still extremely touchy about foreigners who look down their noses at them because they speak the same language Adolf Hitler and Heinrich Himmler spoke.

Recently, a Dutch lecturer who spoke good German, chose to deliver his speech to a German speaking Swiss audience here in English. The result of this "comedy," said the National Zeitung, was that practically nobody understood what he was saying since his English was very labored.

"We would like to recall to our Dutch friends," the newspaper said tartly, "that the Dutch language developed from the 'Dietsch' of the middle ages and the 'low German' of the 16th and 17th centuries and is approximately just as much and just as little German as our Swiss German dialect. For three million Swiss, high German is the school and written language, the most widely used of the four official languages of our country."

Food Minister Announces

More Rations for British

LONDON. — Food Minister John Strachey gave the House of Commons its first good news about food since the war. He was cheered.

Strachey said jam and marmalade will come off the ration list. Other rations will be increased.

The milk ration will go from two to two and one-half pints, cooking fat from one ounce for one person for 16 weeks to two ounces weekly per person each week for a period of 16 weeks and sugar from eight ounces a week to 10 ounces a week with more for preserving. The candy ration will rise from 12 ounces every four weeks to one pound.

Cut-Rate Sols Cut Costs

Inflation-battered Americans might seek relief in Peru where the dollar is king. According to Peruvian International Airways, devaluation of the sol has resulted in such bargains as a shoe shine for three cents, American movies 26 cents, and an average taxi ride 16 cents. A room at Lima's Hotel Bolivar with three meals and five o'clock tea costs 60 sols — about $4.00.

Safety Dress for Kids

Scotch lite, a new fabric which reflects light like a road sign, can be obtained in tape form to attach to children's jackets to make anyone visible to motorists. It is styled so it's an added attraction to youngsters' garments. It can be cut in designs of interest to a school child, too.

Illinois Share Croppers

Most farm tenancies in Illinois are on a crop-share or livestock-share basis, which means that at some time during the year the crops will be divided and each party will take his share or, if they are fed to jointly owned livestock, that each will at one or more times during the year receive a share of the proceeds from the sale of livestock or livestock products.

Branding Cattle

When cattle are branded, the branding iron should be very hot, but the brand should not be burned too deeply. W. H. Gregory, A. P. I., extension livestock specialist, recommends that brand mark be placed on neck or shoulder if possible, thereby protecting the hide.

Health Unit Says Too Many Neurotic Women Teaching

WASHINGTON, D. C.—American delegates to the recent London world congress on mental health came back with this impression: "Not only in the United States but everywhere in the world there are too few men—and too many neurotic women—teaching in the elementary schools."

So reported Dr. Mabel Ross, public health service delegate. She and the two other American delegates—Miss Mary E. Switzer and Dr. Robert H. Felix of the federal security agency—discussed the congress at an assembly of FSA officials.

"Miss Switzer called the congress 'one of the hopeful signs looking to international peace,'"

"Closely knit international groups, such as those in medicine, social work and mental hygiene, have proved that nations can cooperate along professional lines even when they cannot do so politically," she said.

Dr. Felix said continental psychiatrists seemed extremely preoccupied with questions of feelings of "national guilt, of historic origin, and its influence—in group behavior and thinking—upon international relations."

He cited a French paper on German youth which he said reasoned that "the only way to handle the German people is to keep a foot on their neck."

"Its argument stemmed from the effect of the German father's authoritarian role upon the son who must bend unquestioningly or rebel."

"It was bitter to hear a scientific man let hatred influence his reasoning, and I was even more gloomy when I heard Polish, Dutch and Belgian delegates call it masterful and highly scientific."

Australian Ghost Town Hotel Moved 157 Miles

SYDNEY.—All that was left of a Western Australian ghost town has been moved, to reappear in new form 157 miles away. This consisted of a deserted hotel which stood alone in the derelict mining township at Mount Palmer.

John Asbury, of a chain store organization, obtained permission from the Western Australian Housing authority to have the hotel demolished and the materials taken to Kalgoorlie, to build a store and five new houses. The hotel was built years ago when a gold find promised to bring boom to Mount Palmer.

Oregon's Pension Plan Perils State's Finances

SALEM, ORE.—Red-faced Oregonians, who found out too late they had voted, themselves into a financial dungeon, looked to the courts and the State legislature to bail them out.

The Oregonians gave thumping approval at the polls to a $50 monthly old-age pension plan—to be paid to men over 65 and women over 60 regardless of the recipient's need.

At once bond companies withdrew bids on two million dollars in State bonds.

"The State is a poor risk. It's darned near insolvent," one investment expert explained.

Startled Oregonians then learned their pension plan might cost as much as nine million dollars monthly—three times what the State spends now on all its activities. Furthermore, no provision had been made to finance the pensions.

The State Public Welfare commission announced it will send out no further old-age assistance checks until the new law is clarified.

Ship's Crew Saves Lost Rooster From Stew Pot

MONTREAL, CANADA. — This is one ship's mascot that has something to crow about.

When Chips, a rooster, went aboard the British freighter Daghestan in Calcutta he was immediately earmarked for the stewing pot. That was more than six years ago and Chips still has the run of the ship and the ports at which she touches.

Although Chips boarded the Daghestan by mistake and learned his error only when he was far out at sea, his curiosity has not been curbed. His enthusiasm to see the port of Montreal when the ship docked here almost cost him his life. He got too near the ship's side and fell into the harbor. It took the crew three hours to fish him out. Now he leaves the vessel and struts on the dock.

Want to Get Rid of Your Baldness? Buy a House!

LONDON, ENGLAND.—The case of a man whose baldness was cured by acquiring a house was reported in the Practitioner, a British medical journal.

Dr. F. F. Heller, dermatologist, wrote that "the essential cause of alopecia areata (patchy baldness) is psychological."

"A patient of mine revealed that he was 'fed up' at living in his mother-in-law's house. No doubt there were deeper conflicts lurking in his subconscious, but the acquisition of a new house cured his depression and his alopecia."

SHORT STORY

Money For Love

By
LOUIS CUNNINGHAM

"GIRL reporters are the bunk," growled Harriman, the crime expert, in the news-room of the Comet. The pulsing presses that shook the building getting out the last edition brought the toilers under the eye-shades a pleasurable sense of rest after hard work well done. It was the acceptable time for airing theories and grievances.

"As I was saying," continued Harriman, "women in journalism and men in dress-making are one and the same. Now if Brickley, ordinarily a half-intelligent city editor, had shown any sense, we wouldn't be having this Alicia Delano around, making the newsroom a place where you can't swear and . . ."

"Crab!" interrupted Dale Harmsworth, a fresh young reporter. Dale had known Harriman long enough to be in proper awe of the great man.

But Dale had known Alicia Delano long enough to be in love with her.

Further discussion of Alicia was postponed by the turbulent entry of the city editor, Brickley. His derisive eye swept the crowd. "Well, my merry morons," he jeered. "Extend your cobwebbed ears to this: The Prince Bartholdi, a wealthy Roman, has arrived in this city of sin. He is seeking his daughter, a runaway princess. Seems the lady objected to her father's idea of a husband. The old boy offers the modest sum of fifty thousand to the one who finds his little Mariana. We're going to get her for the greater glory of the Comet. It's a general alarm. Here's a picture of the renegade."

"What do you think of it, Alicia?" asked Dale, discovering his lovely neighbor and quickly telling her what it was all about.

"Fifty thousand dollars!" he sighed. "Just imagine, Alicia, what one could do with that. Why . . ."

Later, when he had her alone in the secluded corner of their favorite restaurant, he took a deep breath. "I'm going after that money," he declared determinedly. "I need it, and if . . . if I get it . . . Alicia, darling, have I ever told you that I love you? If I get the money will you . . . marry me?"

THE girl smiled and raised her head. There was something in the warm blue eyes and the set of the lovely mouth, framed by her reddish hair, that made the palm tree behind her dance a madrigal before Dale's dreaming eyes.

"I love you, Dale," said Alicia, solemnly.

"I love you, Dale," said Alicia solemnly. "I will marry you."

Then she twinkled. "Let's do it right away."

Dale and Alicia were married that week and their radiant young faces in the newsroom advertised their happiness. The marriage, however, they kept secret, although they managed to find a small apartment, to be furnished with their joint savings. But how to keep it was a puzzle, unless Dale discovered the princess.

"It seems a hopeless task, Alicia," lamented Dale. "Everybody's giving up. This Princess Mariana is the best little hidden imaginability."

She pulled his ear teasingly. "Don't worry. Things will look different in the morning."

Alicia was a prophetess. Dale awoke to find a strange girl sitting at the foot of the bed. The morning sunlight was no more golden than her hair. Her eyes danced with mischief.

"What . . . what . . . Alicia?"

"I told you things would be different in the morning. But it is still Alicia . . . minus the hair dye . . . Mariana . . . Alicia . . . Dale Harmsworth . . . My mother was an American. So I don't mind if you tell me now, Dale, but be sure and get the money from Dale before you mention that I'm your wife. We need it for our honeymoon."

BIG BUSINESS

Moonshiners Hit Stride

NEW YORK.—There's still plenty of moonshiners in them thar hills. Plenty in the cities, too.

They're making a postwar recovery that has the legitimate liquor people up in arms. And Uncle Sam's revenuers—doing their best with a drastically trimmed budget—are kept hopping.

Modern moonshining is a far cry from the pungent-smelling little stills hidden back in the Piney hills, or the bathtub hooch plants of prohibition days.

It's a streamlined big-time operation now. Interstate syndicates of illegal distillers use trucks and cars by the hundreds, fast planes, modern chemistry. One operator in the south not long ago was even reported using a helicopter to reach his almost inaccessible still.

Illicit Liquor

The legal liquor men estimate that as much as one-fourth of the distilled liquor consumed in this country last year was illicitly produced. That would mean American tipplers are drowning some 45 million gallons of moonshine a year, conservatively speaking.

The price of this mountain dew, of course, varies considerably. Delivered raw in five-gallon cans, it may bring only two dollars a gallon in the backwoods.

But when slightly aged, flavored with a dash of good legal whisky and bottled with counterfeit labels and tax stamps, it often sells for 10 dollars a gallon in town.

F. E. M. Whiting, president of the Licensed Beverage Industries, estimates that the moonshiners and bootleggers deprived this country of 650 million dollars in unpaid federal and state taxes in fiscal 1948. He says this figure is based on the capacity of illegal stills seized during the period.

Estimate Is High

Tax enforcement officers think the estimate is high. They're confident that even with their much-reduced manpower, they're keeping illicit stills under much better control than that.

During the war, moonshining fell off sharply. Copper, grain and sugar, as well as gasoline for hauling, were scarce. When vital supplies require ration coupons, that adds to the danger of illicit operations.

When the war ended the illicit industry staged a fast comeback and it has been gaining momentum ever since.

Bus Passengers Must Walk Across Bridge in New Mexico

TUCUMCARI, N. M.—Transcontinental bus passengers now have to walk across the Canadian river bridge at Logan, N. M., 24 miles northeast of here.

U. S. highway 54 crosses the river at this point on a 26-year-old bridge, which has a 10-ton load limit.

New Mexico highway officials have found that a large, empty transcontinental bus exceeds this limit by about 1,400 pounds. They have agreed, however, to let the buses unload their passengers at one end, cross carefully in the center of the bridge at 10 miles an hour and pick their fares up again at the other end.

Four big buses cross the structure daily with an average of 2½ passengers each. Checkers reported few grumblers. Most of the passengers, they said, regarded the hike across the 100-yard bridge as a novel experience with a flavor of the Old West.

There has been no official indication how long this arrangement is to continue.

Speeders Promise to Pay $10 Fine by Mail—They Do, Too!

BOONE, IA.—Even in Boone, Ia., a cop is in danger of becoming cynical about human nature. I took a young couple from New York to refresh the outlook of the Boone police recently.

The couple was arrested here for speeding. They protested that they were on their honeymoon and didn't have enough money with them to pay the $10 fine.

The police smiled. They had heard that one before. But they let the couple go, after ordering them to send the $10 when they got back to New York.

What happened? A few weeks later the Boone police department got a check from New York for $10.

Safety Leader Recommends Firecrackers as Home Alarm

CHATTANOOGA, TENN. — A Chattanooga safety leader recommends his home fire alarm system consisting of firecrackers stuck in closets, basements, attics, and other hazardous enclosures.

H. C. Harrington, former chief of the Rome, Ga., Volunteer Fire department and now a leader of the safety council here, says "just use the firecrackers and you can be certain of never being trapped."

He says the alarm system has never been called upon at his house, but that several of his friends have been aroused when fires set off the firecrackers in their homes.

SHORT STORY

Blind Advertisement

By
EMMIE BELL PORTER

THE newspaper advertisement read: "WANTED: Sober, reliable man to take complete charge of advertising department of large firm. Must be able to assume full responsibility. College-trained men only need apply."

Ted Clifton read it over toast and eggs. "Mona!" he exclaimed, "Listen . . . this is what I've been looking for . . ."

"Yes, it does sound good," agreed Mona, over his shoulder.

Ted reflected. "It isn't that old Todd is a bad sort . . . it's just that he doesn't seem to want to give me full rein, and you know I work better without so much supervision."

Mona raised her hand in a dramatic sweep. "Onward and upward, my lad . . . Let's enter greener fields via this ad . . . let Todd feed his business to the birds!"

Thirty minutes later Ted leaned back. "Read it to me, honey . . . let's hear how it sounds."

"Dear Sir: If you are looking for a man with initiative, willingness to work and a capacity to handle your advertising look no further. However, I would have it understood from the beginning that I am to have full charge and not be hindered, swayed or crippled by any supervisor, helper or owner. I am at present employed but unfortunately my present employer is afraid to trust me to stand on my own feet, in fact, I do not believe he fully trusts his own feet. I know what I can do and all I ask is a chance to prove it. Respectfully, Theodore Shane."

Mona's eyes glowed. "Oh, Ted, that is a good letter, but is that part bad about your boss not trusting you?"

Ted's jaw set. "All my cards are on the table, honey . . . might as well let him know where I stand right from the beginning."

Kissing Mona goodbye, Ted whispered, "Keep your fingers crossed for luck, sweet."

AT FOUR O'CLOCK that afternoon the buzzer on Ted's desk impatiently summoned him into the inner sanctum of the Big Boss—J. Anthony Todd, himself. That illustrious individual sat stiffly erect, his halo of steel gray hair bristling excitingly.

"Sit down, Shane!" he thundered. "Sit down. I want to talk with you about that Finkle advertising deal. Just how would you handle it?"

Ted blinked in surprise. "Why, sir, I would channel it through the mediums of the small retailer for there's not enough volume to interest the large concerns."

The owner of Todd and Todd nodded in agreement. "Right! That's just what I've been telling my partner should be done! Go right ahead with it!"

"Thanks!" agreed Ted. "That should be quite a deal if handled properly."

"By the way," inquired Mr. Todd, his eyes twinkling, "just how would

He ushered a dazed but happy Ted to the door.

you handle the new plastic deal with the Denver people?"

Ted outlined in enthusiastic detail the plans he had been longing to put into action.

WHEN he had finished, the boss looked at him in astonishment. "My boy," he instructed, "Go right ahead. Call me in for a conference only if you feel you need moral support." He shifted his weight and smiled. "Comp back tomorrow. We will draw up a new arrangement as well as full authority in your department."

After he had ushered a dazed but happy Ted to the door, the head of Todd and Todd drew a letter from his desk. He chuckled. "This is really good!" Adjusting his glasses he read:

"My present employer is afraid to trust me to stand on my own feet, in fact I do not believe he fully trusts his own feet."

Putting the letter back, he smiled again. "I guess young Shane will always wonder why he never received an answer to that letter. It was a good thing I made that advertisement a blind one, otherwise I might never have discovered what a tip-top advertising fireball I had right here all along!"

FAILURE? ? ?

Through the private incentive system America has more telephones, bathtubs, radios, electrical power, automobiles, and square foot of housing per person than any country on earth . . . Failure?

9 out of 10 of the world's bathtubs are in American homes.

FAILURE! shout the bureaucrats

Private industry is constructing 5 homes a minute every eight-hour day, . . .

the highest rate of home construction ever reached in any country, anytime, any place.

FAILURE! clamor the bureaucrats

In the homes constructed by Private industry in 1948 you could house the total population of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada . . . or, the combined populations of Detroit, Baltimore, Boston, Indianapolis and Atlanta. FAILURE?

P. S. Public Housers and social planners are pushing Government Public Housing legislation in Washington right now. A vote for public housing means more public housers on the payroll, more government employees supported out of your pocketbook, more costs in maintenance of larger housing agencies . .
BUT, public housing has never meant more homes, more housing space per person than private industry is producing in this country.
Ask the citizens of France, England,
Russia, Sweden, Italy and Spain.
They don't have what you have.
Then tell those that represent you in your clubs, your civic organizations, and in your government the facts about the fallacies in public housing.
Our last and strongest example of small business in American industry is the private building industry. It is already doing the job of house-construction quicker, to suit individual need, and at a lower cost to you than can be achieved by government housing agency spending.
It will indeed spell "failure" for Americans if the proposed Government Housing Program becomes law.

SHORT STORY

That Old Mr. Crane

By ANNA E. WILSON

OLD MR. CRANE sat in a padded armchair before the fire in his room. The pipe and tobacco on the table beside him went untouched. Old Mrs. Cranston had given him the pipe and tobacco, the armchair and the basement room. In return he tended the furnace and sometimes swept the floor.

Old Mr. Crane began to think about himself as he'd have liked to have been. He might dream that he'd had a fine father and mother, maybe a doctor and a teacher. Someone whose money came in regular and who'd have seen that he got educated; who could have found what he was suited to and maybe given him a start. He'd have married, well, someone like Alda Rich, who used to ride her bicycle past his father's house and who sometimes stopped to speak to him. Alda was Dr. Rich's daughter and spoke to everybody. A nice girl, not stuck-up or proud.

The children would have been like Alda, too. Two boys and two girls. He'd have called the elder girl Alda and one of the boys for himself, Milton Crane, Jr. People would have written it that way on letters. He'd seen it that way when he'd carried in the mail for old Dr. Rich that summer when he mowed lawns for his keep. Dr. Rich had given him many a stray quarter on the side.

"Seems as if such a rich country should be able to give you a better chance, son." Young as he was, he felt something both sorrowful and angry in the doctor's voice.

After Algy, the smallest, got pneumonia and died, their father had failed. He and Sam had quit school and gone to work, he himself into the grocery business. But he drifted from job to job. Sam put it in words, "It's not that you don't mean right or that you're lazy, but it seems like you have got to be moving." Sam had always been good to him just the same as he had been good to Dad. Sam was dead now. He'd felt bad when Sam died.

He'd moved around just as Sam said, and when he was young and strong, he'd managed pretty well—harvesting, lumbering, sailing once on a boat. It's a life that's hard on a man, having no proper comforts. Once Sam had come out to visit him. "You're getting no younger. Maybe you should think of marrying and settling down."

Seemed the girls got tired of him and looked to staidier men.

IN THE end, he'd had to help out Sam. It hadn't been much he'd had to give Sally when Sam died, but until Sam's boy grew up, he'd stayed at that elevator and worked hard. Sally'd asked him to come and live with them, but Sally had a nice house and, after knocking around all over, a man gets kind of rough. It wouldn't have been fitting, and he'd always tried to do what was fitting.

It was in the hospital that Mrs. Cranston found him. She'd given him the room and the chair and yesterday she'd given him the tobacco and the pipe, although the furnace was black out.

"Never mind the furnace," she'd said, "We'll get someone to look after that—just rest."

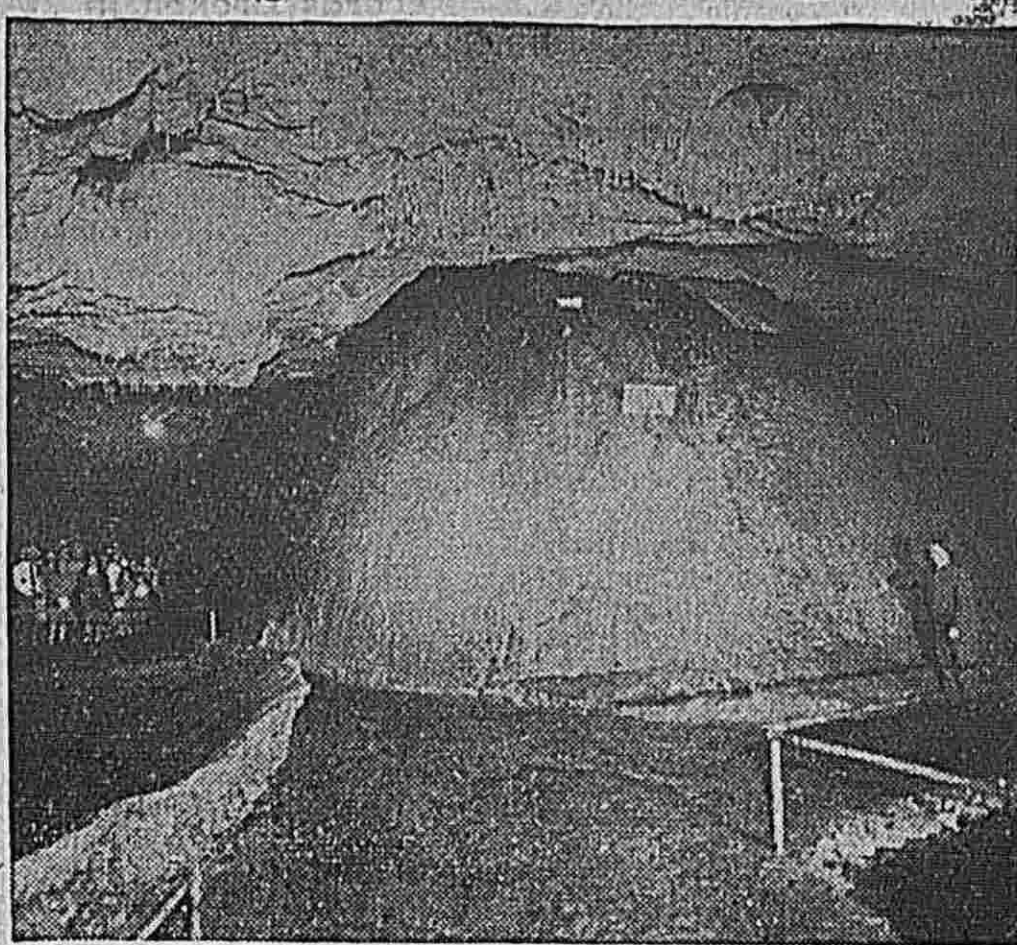

She knew. She was his kind. They must have told her that he hadn't long to go. It was nice here, dreaming of Alda by the fire, and, maybe, a kid or two, though he'd known well, it wasn't fitting for him to be looking at Alda Rich after her father died.

He must have fallen asleep and been talking again for old Mrs. Cranston, who had been Alda Rich, came in. She was holding a glass and there were tears in her voice when she spoke.

"Drink this, Milt, you've just been having a bad dream."

Although international tension fluctuates from week to week, there seems to be growing evidence that the American public is giving more and more thought to the grim possibility of another world war. And studied opinion seems to agree that if it comes it will be swift and devastating.

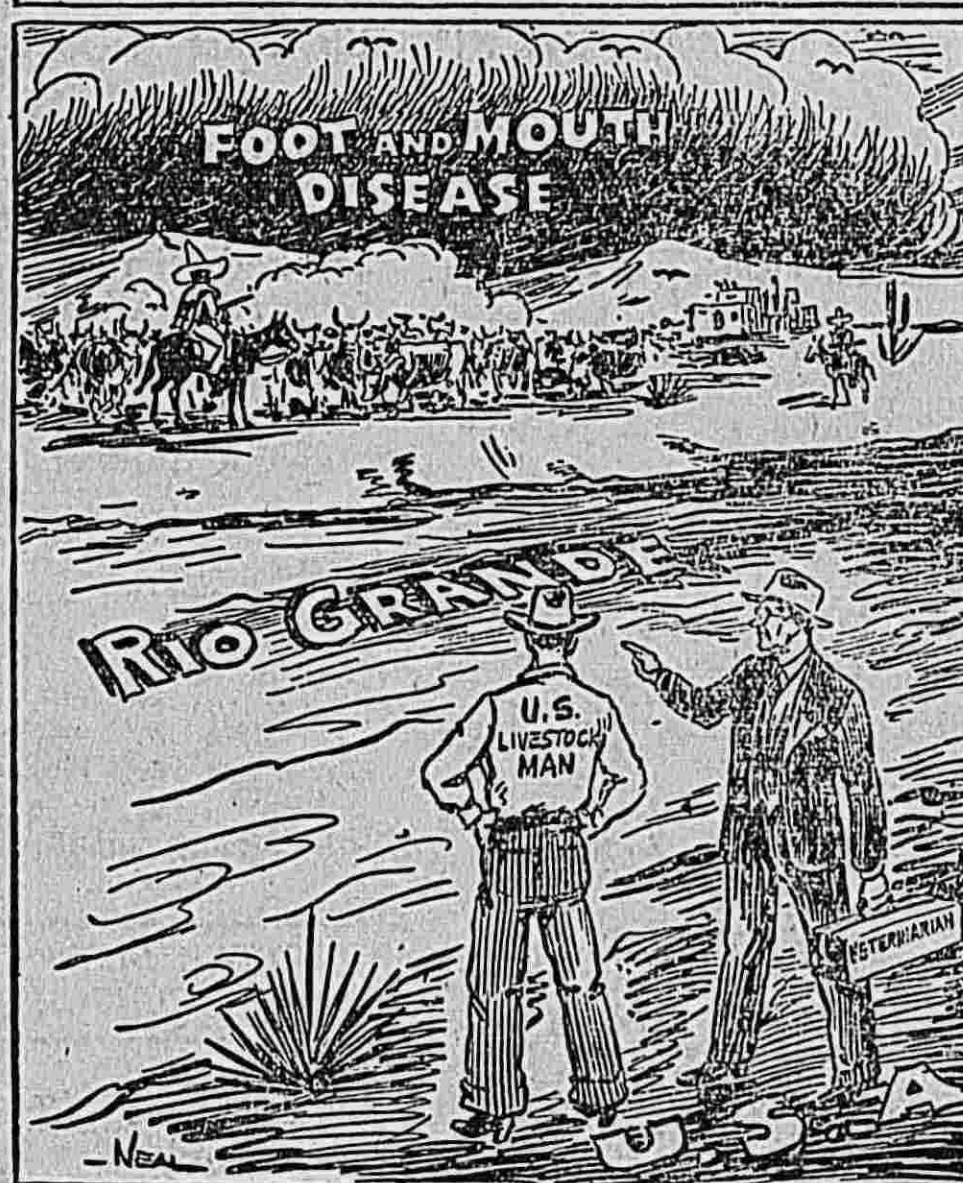

This is reflected in the hundreds of applications received weekly by Meramec Caverns, at Stanton, Missouri, for space in the five-story cave to be used as a shelter in the event of an atomic war.

This deluge of applications developed soon after a survey of Meramec Caverns had been made by a group of experts, in which it was established that conditions are ideal in the cave for such a refuge.

These experts point out that the depth of the cave's underground passages alone offer splendid protection from bombing but when coupled with the mineral content of the terrain overhead, the cave is additionally protected from radiation. These minerals, the experts say, would have a tendency to absorb many of the deadly atomic rays.

No attempt has been made to accurately figure actual number of refugees the cave could accommodate as a bomb shelter, but Lester B. Dill, Meramec's Caveologist, estimates that at least a quarter of a million could be comfortably taken care of. Already, he says, applications for space approach the hundred-thousand mark.

"STORM BELOW THE BORDER"

Blind Mechanic Sells His Skill To Townspeople

HOLTVILLE, ALA.—A blind man has the feel of this rural Alabama community.

He is 39-year-old Carson Dennison, and his talents as a mechanic, electrician, plumber and general repairman are so much in demand the folks around here say they wouldn't know what to do without him.

He started to take a war job once, but the neighbors howled so much he stayed home.

The feeling of being useful is what Dennison has struggled for since he was 18. That's when he lost his eyesight.

His dream of independence has paid off in the cash register. He'll tackle anything from patching up a wheezing jalopy to diving in Lake Jordan to see if a boathouse piling is put down right. But he turns down work every day because he has more than he can do.

Dennison doesn't consider his blindness a handicap, either. It's an asset. Take the time a customer brought in a typesetting machine so broken down nobody else would touch it.

"I couldn't see how bad it was," Dennison recalled, "so I fixed it."

"Carson" was only 8 when a playmate blasted his eyes with birdshot. There were intervals of seeing again out of one eye, but when he was 18 the light went out for good.

Despondent, he suffered through one operation after another for five years. Then one day in a New Orleans hospital Dennison found a new light—from the inside.

"It's imagination," he says, "Most people talk about imagination so much they don't have a chance to think what it means."

"I couldn't see how bad it was," Dennison began to imagine he could be a mechanical engineer. He'd always wanted to be one.

"I didn't feel like I could stand a handout," Carse explained, looking up from the water gauge he was installing in a heating plant. "I wanted to do a job and send someone a bill and get paid like anyone else."

Works on Big Jobs That's what he does. He finds time now and then to squeeze in small jobs, but most of his work lately goes into big projects, such as the heating systems he put in at Holtville high school and the grade school at near-by Eclectic.

Difficult wiring jobs don't bother him. The refrigeration unit he installed at the high school had 150 separate connections, but he got every one right.

When he takes on work like that, his wife reads the blueprints aloud and he memorizes them. Fellow workers help him figure out the color schemes that tell electricians which wires go where.

Once he got crossed up—a helper turned out to be color blind. But Carse connected the wires the way he thought they should go when he ran a test to see if they were right. They were.

Dennison likes to take on jobs that others have bungled or given up. Strangely, he says customers expect better workmanship from him than they do from others.

Highway Signs An octagonal, or eight-sided sign means STOP—you're approaching a stop street, a trunk line junction, or perhaps a dangerous corner. A round sign indicates there is a railroad crossing ahead. A diamond-shaped sign means that you should slow down—immediately ahead may be a dangerous curve or hill, a narrow bridge, end of pavement, bad road, etc.

Lunch Box Sandwiches Day-old bread is best for lunch-box sandwiches because it is firm enough to spread easily and to hold the filling, yet it is not too hard nor dry as older bread may be.

Uncle Sam Says

Every well-managed home maintains a financial reserve as security against future needs and emergencies. You may feel secure behind your own little bulwark—your job, your earnings, your savings. But you also want a safe and sure way to protect all these and that is through the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. The practice of putting away financial reserves into safe and profitable savings bonds should be a permanent and definite part of your savings program. Enroll now for the Payroll Savings Plan for buying bonds where you work, or, if self-employed, for the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank.

Before Canning

To prevent light colored fruit such as apples, pears and peaches from darkening, drop them into a vinegar solution. Use two tablespoons of vinegar to a gallon of water. Fruit should have a slight rinse before canning.

All Home Building

Records Broken in 1948

The homebuilding industry, in constructing over 950,000 homes last year, provided the American people with more new homes in less time than were ever constructed in any country, Ed Vos, Antioch, commented today in discussing the national housing situation.

The construction of close to a million new homes may not convey the real import of the tremendous job accomplished, Vos said, unless the number is interpreted in terms that can be visualized.

If we lined up 950,000 homes, wall to wall, they would stretch farther than from New York to San Francisco and half way to Honolulu in the Pacific, he declared, and that only allows for each dwelling measuring 24 feet long.

Enough homes were constructed last year to house the combined number of families in Detroit, Baltimore, Boston, Indianapolis and Atlanta, he continued.

For those who like to think in terms of the wide open spaces, he pointed out, the total population of the 7 mountain states of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, and Nevada could be housed in the homes built in the single year of 1948 by private industry.

Since any individual is usually interested in only one home, it is difficult to really imagine the volume of residential construction taking place last year in providing close to a million homes, Vos said, but 950,000 homes normally provide shelter for about 3,230,000 people, and that is more people than live in many of our largest cities.

In connection with the record number of new homes built last year, he called attention to the fact that the average sales price was under $8500, per house or unit. This is particularly remarkable achievement, he said, in view of the fact that for a portion of the year the building industry was operating under conditions of material and labor shortages.

With practically all building materials now in ample supply, he pointed out, the private construction industry is in the best possible position to fulfill the demands of the American people for new homes.
